

San Francisco Bay Area Funding Area

The San Francisco Bay Area Funding Area involves the nine counties of the Bay Area, which include Sonoma, Napa, Solano, Marin, Contra Costa, San Francisco, San Mateo, Alameda, and Santa Clara. The Funding Area consists of only one IRWM region.

Disadvantaged Community Involvement Program

The Disadvantaged Community and Tribal Involvement (DACTI) Program in the Bay Area is being carried out with the Association of Bay Area Governments and the San Francisco Estuary Partnership. Tribal engagement and a Tribal needs assessment is being coordinated by the California Indian Environmental Alliance (CIEA) to ensure the involvement of local Tribes. CIEA has engaged five Tribal Program Partners.

Integrated Regional Water Management Regions[†]

San Francisco Bay Area

The San Francisco Bay Area region's governing body is the Coordinating Committee, which consists of 12 representatives, 2 from each of the Functional Areas: water supply/water quality, wastewater/recycled water, flood protection/stormwater management, and watershed management/habitat protection/restoration. The region also operates through a subregional approach, consisting of the North Bay, East Bay, South Bay, and West Bay. Through the engagement work of the DACTI Program, the California Indian Environmental Alliance has partnered with five Tribal Program Partners, including the Amah Mutsun Tribal Band, Association of Ramaytush, Him-R^n, Indian People Organizing for Change, and the Muwekma Ohlone.

* A change in the Grantee administering the San Francisco Program in 2019 resulted in a grant award split between two contracts; however, project sponsors throughout the Bay Area have been engaged continuously since award of the original contract in 2017.

† Information on each Integrated Regional Water Management (IRWM) region was gathered from publicly available information from the region's website or IRWM plan. This information may not reflect the most recent or accurate understanding of Tribal engagement in the region. Please contact the IRWM region for additional information.
